MY EARLY LOVE.

Midnight has closed around me now And earth is hushed in slumbers rest;

I sit alone with thoughtful brow, With care and sorrow on my breast, And muse upon the days gone by, And sigh that joy with time should fly.

How sweet and pleasant is the thought Of days that long have past, When sad experience has taught That pleasures cannot last; But the sad heart clings to them yet-Those moments it can ne'er forget.

Though changed now is my bitter heart, From pleasures led astray, One feeling deep shall ne'er depart. While mem'ry holds her sway; And cherished in my immost mind

My early love shall lie enshrined,

Shall never in its light expire.

Although my life may linger still In sad misfortune's bitter storm, Until the hand of death shall chill The heart that now beats wild and warm The love that lit its early fire

And though bright eyes may on me shine, And fair and lovely forms float round me, Their tender smiles can ne'er win mine From the pure love that early bound me And though all hope has left my heart, Its first warm love can ne'er depart,

Tis strange that love should to me cling, When joy, hope and pleasures shun me That hopeless memory should take wing To where those eyes first smiled upon me Where'er I pause, where'er I move, Still cleaves to me my early love.

Amiability.

The Genuine Attio.

Four lawyers practised in the same court in North Carolina-their names were Hillman, Swain, Dews and Dodge. While the last named was making a speech, in a cause, the three first wrote on a strip of paper an Epitaph, and cast it directly before Mr. Dodge, where he must necessarily see it, as follows:

"Here lies a Dodge, who dodg'd all good, And dodg'd a deal of evil; But after dodging all he could,

He could not dodge the Davil." He raised the paper-read it, and instantly composed the following bone-cutter: "Here lies a Hillman and a Swain,

Whose lot let no man choose; They liv'd in sin and died in pain, And the Devil got his Dews," The following inscription was written by a wag, on the front of a church in the city of New York, the cellar of which was rented out for a wine-vault: "There's a spirit above and a spirit below, A spirit of Joy and a spirit of wo-

The spirit above is the spirit divine, The spirit below is the spirit of wine." Epitaph writthn by a wag, upon an old usurer and money-lender joining the church: "Here lies thirty-three and a third per cent: The more he got, the more he lent; The more he made, the more he eraved-Good Lord! can such a soul be saved?"

Have you got a letter here for my LIFE, HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

MORTIMORE'S Bitter Cordial and Blood Purifier.

This popular CORDIAL, which has met with such extensive sale during the past year, surpasses all preparations put forth for similar purposes, and prove by its wonderful effects upon the human system, to be the GREATEST BLOOD PURIFIER in the world.

Most diseases have their origin in impurities of the blood, or a morbid and inactive state of the liver, and the great difficulty heretofore has been, that the various "blood purifiers" of the day, have only had a teadency to reduce the blood, and substitute an actid matery fluid—which must necessarily engender diseases—reduce the vital powers, and ures. gender disease—reduce the vital powers, and prestrate the whole nervous system. This no doubt has been experienced by thousands, and the fact becoming well known to every close observer, as well as to many eminent physicians.

The BITTER CORDIAL and BLOOD PURI-FIER acts entirely different upon the system.— While it acts gently upon the Liven, sufficient to remove the impure or poisonous secretions, it acts also as a fine route to the stomach equilibrium. plete and healthy digestion—furnishing a pure sat-iva and proper nutriment for axarctive the blood, and leads it forth with a vigorous and healthy ac-and leads it forth with a vigorous and healthy action throughout the system.

For Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Pain or Misery in the Side or regions of the Heart, Janualice, General Debility or nervous affections, this CORDLEL stands unequalled.

Where persons have suffered from Chill and Fevens or bilious attacks of any kind, have taken geninus or colomel, and weak or debilitated—or the effects of these strong medicines remaining in the system, this Cordici will very soon remove these, which, if let alone, might ruin the individual for life.

An engraved portrait of some distinguished person will be found in every number of the Review. These will usually be portraits of living American Statesmen, and whenever that is possible, will be accompanied with an authentic Memoir of the perron represented.

on represented.

The objects of the Review are of course political; it is designed to set forth and defend the p ineiples, the m assures and the man of the Unran Wino. Panry of the Union. It has been a matter of just reproach to that Party, that though it embraces its despendent. due proportion of the intelligence and learning of the country, it has had no Quarterly or Monthly Organ devoted to the expression and defense of its opinions and measures. The conductors of the American Review have done what in them lies to American Review have done what in them has to remove this reproach, by securing contributions from sources of ability and truth.

The literary department of the Review will agree in spirit with the political.
